Plane Crash Kills 9

Educators Studying Viet School Setup

SAIGON (AP)—A small twin-engine plane carrying eight U.S. educators crashed into a mountain in turbulent rainy weather north of Da Nang Thursday and all eight and their pilot were killed, a U.S. spokesman said today.

The team leader was Dr. James Albertson, president of the Stevens Point branch of Wisconsin State University.

Notification of his death and of the others was dispatched to their families in the United States.

The other identified victims were:

Dr. Melvin Wall, professor of agriculture of the River Falls branch of Wisconsin State University.

Dr. Howard Johnshoy, dean of academic affairs at Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minn.

Dr. Donald Beattie, dean of the School of Business and Economics at the Whitewater branch of Wisconsin State University.

Dr. Harry Bangsberg, president of Bemidji State University, Bemidji, Minn.

Dr. Vincent F. Conroy, a lecturer and director of field studies in Harvard's Center for Research and Development on Dr. Arthur D. Pickett, director of honor programs, University of Illinois, Chicago.

Robert La Follette, an Agency for International Development official stationed at Saigon. La Follette was a Harvard graduate and former professor of history at the University of Maryland.

Dr. Wall was a native of Holton, Kan., and had been a member of the faculty at River Falls, his alma mater, since 1940. His widow, two sons and a daughter survive.

Dr. Bangsberg became president of Bemidji College in 1964 after serving as director of the higher education coordinating council of metropolitan St. Louis Mo.

Ambassador Session Ends On Saturday

The third session of the 13th annual State Royal Ambassador Congress will begin at 8:30 Saturday morning in the Agriculture Building on the State Fair grounds.

Trumpet call will open the meeting followed by singing led by Larry Melton. Devotional will be given by Geoffrey Piestrupps of St. Louis.

At 9:15 the State finals of the Ambassador Speaker's Tournament will be held.

A testimony will be given by Ed McDaniel, Eldon, Mo. Special music will be presented by the Royal Ambassador Quartet of Liberty, Mo.

The inspirational message will be brought by Dr. G. William Schwer, Foreign Missionary to Indonesia, and a native of Independence.

Fourth and last session will begin at 10:30 a.m. After singing, Larry Geurin, Congress Vice President of Liberty will lead the devotional.

The business session will cover the report of the Congress secretary, the Congress mission project committee, and nominating committee. The election of the 1968 Congress officers will be held and awards will be presented to the chapters with 100 per cent attendance, the chapter that has traveled the greatest distance to the Congress, also for the one with the largest attendance.

A foreign Missionary to Thailand, Rev. Raymond L. Shelton, native of East St. Louis, Illinois will bring the inspirational message.

The meeting will close with the passing of the gavel from Robin Kearns, President of the Congress, to the new President for 1968.

The adult leadership breakfast will be held Saturday morning at 7 a.m. at the Holiday Inn.

MAIN SPEAKER—Maj. Gen. H. E. Humfeld, former commander of Whiteman AFB and currently director of Maintenance, Engineering, Air Force Headquarters in Washington, was the featured speaker at the Chamber of Commerce Banquet here Thursday night. He devoted the main body of his talk to the upcoming ing competition of various missiles wings, testing the wing personnel for their efficiency in handling of missile weapons under simulated conditions. Humfeld is shown with Secretary of State James Kirkpatrick who introduced him. (Democrat-Capital photo)

At Chamber Banquet

Civilian-Military Accord For Full Taxpayer Value

Maj. Gen. H. E. Humfeld, Director of Maintenance and Engineering, USAF, the Pentagon, and former commander of Whiteman AFB, told a crowd of about 550 persons at the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet Thursday night "... we in the armed forces must work as one unit to economically and successfully give the taxpayers and the country the most for their money."

Humfeld's comment came on the heels of an explanation on "Project Curtain Raiser", an Air Force sponsored competition involving Strategic Air Command ICBM missile wings, including three Titan II Wings and six Minuteman Wings in SAC. Humfeld pointed out the test or competition among missile crews grew out of SAC's bombing competitions, started in 1957. At that time, SAC crews flew and "bombed targets" and were rated for accuracy.

The same basic principle is involved with the Missile, Humfeld said, except that the conditions under which the crews will work will be simulated. They will be put through conditions similar to the ones they might encounter if under attack, or if problems inside the missile silos occurred.

Involved in the competition will be "... challenges confronting the crews in the three trainer sessions ... exceeding those which a crew might face in a year of alert tours," Humfeld said. He said the wing with the highest total of points at the end of the test will be declared winner. A local team will represent the Whiteman facility.

The tests will be conducted at Vandenberg Air Force base, about 150 miles from Los Angeles. It is the only facility available which allows the firing of a test missile, its recovery and return without passing over any land mass, Humfeld said. Humfeld commanded Vandenberg until last January.

Missile teams, during their tests, Humfeld said, will fire missiles into the Western Test Range atoll, located 5,000 miles downrange in the Eniwetok Lagoon. Here the shot is scored for accuracy.

Besides determining the readiness of the crews, the tests help US military personnel determine the reliability and capability of the more than 1,000 missiles presently in the operational inventory. . . .

"Faced with the knowledge that our enemies could attack us with ballistic weapons—practically without warning—we developed, from scratch, so to speak, weapons of equal or greater capability to deter this threat," Humfeld said after praising work done at Whiteman. He said daily efforts are made refining weapons and improving them.

"We in the military join with you in hoping that it will never be necessary to use them," he said prior to concluding his talk.

Penetrate Missile Defense To Reach Industrial Heart

Strike Big Power Plant Aiming Bombs By Radar

SAIGON (AP)—Warplanes from two U.S. aircraft carriers penetrated the missile envelope around North Vietnam's industrial heartland Friday to attack the Thai Nguyen thermal power plant 39 miles from Hanoi.

It was the second big strike against the power plant, which is close to the vital Thai Nguyen steel plant. The steel plant has been bombed four times. Both targets were barred to U.S. pilots until early this month but have since been subjected to heavy bombing despite continuous bad weather over North Vietnam.

Astronauts Use Delay For Studies

Little Hope For Manned Flight Until Next Year

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—Veteran astronaut

Neil A. Armstrong says America's spacemen will take advantage of delay in the man to the moon program to be better prepared to accomplish more when Project Apollo gets rolling again.

They are catching up, he said in an interview, on things that before the Apollo 1 disaster they didn't have as much time to study as they would have liked.

As investigators near the end of their probe into the fire that killed three astronauts Jan. 27, it has become apparent that officials hold little hope of staging another manned space flight until early next year.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said Thursday that two prime Missile teams, during their tests, Humfeld said, will fire missiles into the Western Test Range atoll, located 5,000 miles downrange in the Eniwetok Lagoon. Here the shot is scored for accuracy.

Besides determining the readiness of the crews, the tests help US military personnel determine the reliability and capability of the more than 1,000 missiles presently in the operational inventory. . . .

"Faced with the knowledge that our enemies could attack us with ballistic weapons—practically without warning—we developed, from scratch, so to speak, weapons of equal or greater capability to deter this threat," Humfeld said after praising work done at Whiteman. He said daily efforts are made refining weapons and improving them.

"We in the military join with you in hoping that it will never be necessary to use them," he said prior to concluding his talk.

Boeing Co. Staging Area Here

Recently the Air Force reported that the first squadron of 50 ICBMs, upon completion of the Force Modernization changes, had been accepted at Whiteman Air Force Base. The Boeing Company, weapon system contractor for the Minuteman Program, and its subcontractors are continuing work which will lead later this year to complete changeover of Wing IV to a Minuteman II installation.

R. M. Severide, The Boeing Company Base Manager, announced the establishment of a staging area in Sedalia which will be located at the old Walker Company Printing Building on West Main street. Approximately three hundred employees presently working out of Whiteman AFB and who are assigned to work at the missile sites will be dispatched from Sedalia. Severide commented that this staging area is similar to the dispatch office during the original Minuteman I installation in many ways with the exception that personnel supporting the field activities will continue to be assigned at Whiteman Air Force Base.

Minor improvements have been made in the interior of the

Injuries Fatal

CAMERON, Mo. (AP)—A 69-year-old Kansas City woman, Mrs. Ruth Taylor, died in a Cameron hospital Thursday evening about three hours after she was injured in a two-car collision at the intersection of U. S. 36 and 69.

Mrs. Taylor was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, John F. Taylor, 84.

Taylor and the driver of the other car, Clyde E. Hill, 51, of Brookfield, were not injured. Hill's wife, Laurina, sustained bruises and a shoulder injury.

Local NFO Considering Buying Milk

Pettis County National Farmers Association members met at the county courthouse Thursday night and discussed the possibility of obtaining funds to purchase milk from supermarkets and thereby keep the product from local consumers.

The report was received Friday morning from Charles Jaeger, county NFO chairman. Jaeger said about 15 Pettis County farmers attended the meeting last night.

He said county grain and livestock farmers had also proposed supporting the milk withholding action. This would apparently be done by keeping grain and livestock off the market.

The milk purchasing proposal is not strictly a local matter. The Associated Press said the same action is being considered in several places in Kansas.

Jaeger said Friday the ideas discussed here Thursday night were not directives from the NFO's headquarters in Corning, Iowa. He said the action was spontaneous and strictly voluntary.

Concerning the milk withholding action, now in its tenth day, Jaeger said about 250,000 pounds of milk had been destroyed in Pettis County since the movement started. He said 15 to 20

Catholic Changes Show In Training

WOODSTOCK, Md. (AP) — The modernization movement in Roman Catholicism is reflected in the radical changes in training of priests at Woodstock College, one of the nation's foremost Jesuit seminaries.

Once the seminarians were virtually isolated in the rolling hill country 20 miles west of Baltimore. Their training was dominated by a theological system devised in the Middle Ages by St. Thomas Aquinas. And they conformed to a rigid schedule, from arising at a certain time to going to bed at a certain time. But no more.

Woodstock's president, the Very Rev. Felix F. Cardega, said the changes here are simply a reflection of the modern age, something he said can be seen in other denominations as well as in Roman Catholicism.

Father Cardega said that it was recognized that former methods did not equip priests to deal adequately with the problems of people who needed guidance. To help inform priests of social problems, Woodstock added a course called "Sociology of the Church."

Another new course is "Religious Anthropology," which explores the relation of religion to the cultural activities of man. Yet another new course is "The Problem of God," which includes inquiry into various modern theories, among them the "God is dead" viewpoint.

Teacher of this course, which surely would have been taboo in past times, is the Rev. John C. Murray, chief writer of the decree on religious liberty approved by the Ecumenical Council, Vatican II.

Protestant theology and the Protestant role in ecumenism also are studied.

"These days," said Father Cardega, "the whole of theology has to be ecumenical or it's nothing. And it has to be in contact with the social problems and daily needs of people."

Of the 72 courses offered, 21 are elective. Seminarians have been going outside the school for some time to engage in social welfare work, but recently this activity has been greatly expanded.

Some students visit Baltimore each week to work in slum neighborhoods. Other seminarians pay regular visits to two nearby state mental hospitals. Others visit Protestant churches and synagogues to explain Catholicism.

LONDON (AP) — Britain's iron and steel bill cleared its final parliamentary hurdle Wednesday night, paving the way for the Labor government to nationalize the industry this summer.

Royal assent, the final legislative stage, was given in the House of Lords to the measure for which the Labor government had campaigned in the 1964 and 1966 elections. The Laborites contended the steel industry had failed to modernize and needed reorganization.

A Labor government took over the industry in 1950, but the Conservatives turned it back to private ownership after they returned to power in 1951.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government is paying $1.344 billion for Britain's 14 biggest companies, which produce 90 per cent of the nation's iron and steel. They have an annual capacity of 30 million tons of steel. Another 140 companies, most of them small specialty firms, will remain under private ownership.

Fatima Prepares For Its Anniversary Celebration

By DENNIS F. REDMONT

FATIMA, Portugal (AP) — This tiny mountain town where 50 years ago three little shepherds witnessed the apparition of the Virgin, is preparing elaborate anniversary celebrations.

Roman Catholic officials have invited Pope Paul VI to visit the shrine for the yearly May 13 pilgrimage to the rocky plateau, dominated by a white basilica, with Virgins of good luck, of good confinements—responsible for the birth of men and of plants—and of holy agony.

For this reason, Fatima was chosen as the site for an international Marian congress where groups from five continents will meet. The August congress will be preceded by a Mariological meeting in Lisbon for theologists studying the worship of the Virgin.

The story of Fatima began one spring day in 1917, when Francisco, Jacinta and Lucia made their way toward Cova de Iria, a hollow between two hills. They said there was a flash of lightning in the clear sky. They thought it was a storm, but a second flash came and they found themselves surrounded by light in front of a beautiful Virgin standing on an oak tree. She asked them to come at exactly the same time of day on the 13th of every month.

Since the first apparition, Fatima has become one of the largest Catholic shrines in the world. It has received more than one million pilgrims a year, half of whom partook in Communion. The centers' 200 priests distributed nearly 800,000 hosts in 1966 during 20,000 Masses at all hours of the day. About 700 couples chose the tiny Chapel of the Apparitions to be married in 1966. More than 20,000 bleeding feet were washed at the local hospital during each yearly pilgrimage.

For most Portuguese, Fatima means penance. It means walking barefoot from the home village, sometimes for 300 kilometers under the hot sun, carrying an umbrella and a crude paper package of food. It means edging forward across the esplanade on one's knees, bearing a candle for the small altar supporting the figure of the Virgin.

At night during the pilgrimage, the Holy Sacrament is exposed while thousands of candles dot the esplanade like a swarm of fireflies. Many camp in the open, roasting sardines over wood fires.

Some spectacular recoveries from illness have been reported, but the Vatican has only approved three in the past half century. The diocese reports half a dozen yearly, claiming Fatima is more of a "spiritual recovery" center than one for illness like Lourdes.

One of the latest reported was that of a paralytic 27-year-old man from the mountain town of Monteigas. After a week of bread and water on his way to

There will be two identical services at the Broadway Presbyterian Church Easter morning, at 8:30 and 10:45 a.m. Dr. Garner S. Odell has chosen as the sermon title, "Easter—the Foundation of Our Faith." Church School will begin at 9:30 a.m.

The Youth Groups will not meet Sunday evening. The Chancel Choir will rehearse Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

The Executive Committee of Women's Association will meet Thursday at 10:30 a.m. All are asked to bring a sack lunch. In the afternoon all women of the church are urged to come to the Fellowship Hall to roll bandages for the sewing project of the year for the World Service Department. Old white sheets are needed for bandages. Bring them to the church before Thursday.

The Junior Choir will rehearse Thursday at 4 p.m. Boy Scout Troop 65 and Explorer Post 65 will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

At the same time, the huge crowd, including newsmen from the two largest Lisbon newspapers, then anticlerical, reportedly saw "the dance of the sun." Witnesses said the clouds parted like curtains and the sun began to zig-zag in the sky.

Of the three children, Jacinta and Francisco died of Spanish flu. Lucia taught for a while in Spain and now has become a Carmelite nun in a convent near the university town of Coimbra.

In the subsequent national controversy the government accused the church, but the church rejected the charges.

Cova de Iria was sealed off by a cordon of troops, but still the curious flocked to the site. On the occasion of the reported fifth apparition, the miracle of the flowers is said to have taken place: flowers fell from the sky, seeming to get larger, then further away. The onlookers surged forward to catch them but in vain.

On Oct. 13, 1918, a crowd of 70,000 thronged toward Cova under pouring rain. Lucia signaled the crowd, who stood reciting prayers, to close their umbrellas. Then the Lady is said to have appeared on the oak tree declaring: "I am the one who has been reported as

Accidents Not Inevitable

Safety conscious statisticians and law enforcement officers are thoroughly convinced that between 1,000 and 1,300 lives were saved and many injuries minimized in auto accidents last year by motorists using safety belts.

How they arrived at this conclusion does not matter. What is significant is why more people don't use the belts which have definitely been established as life-saving devices.

More than half the passenger cars today have belts, according to the National Safety Council, yet 70 per cent of car occupants stubbornly refuse to use them.

Many motorists explain that belts are a nuisance and uncomfortable; others forget about them.

Then there is that considerable and lethargic group who are fatalists. They follow the doctrine that all things are subject to fate, that particular happenings such as automobile accidents are predetermined, so why be bothered with a seat belt.

To them massive evidence and documented fact about the belts as an automotive safety factor, is unacceptable. What will be, will be, they say.

However, all of this stuff about the fates is fiction and the sooner 70 per cent of the motorists accept this indictment, the sooner will come reduction of the annual fatality figure of 50,000 and untold millions of injuries on streets and highways.

What the Safety Council has had to say on the subject of arguments against safety belts, bears repetition as the motoring season gets into high gear again:

"I use a seat belt for long trips on expressways. But it's a nuisance just driving around town." (FACT: Half of all injury-producing accidents occur at impact speeds of under 40 miles an hour.)

"Some people are thrown clear in a crash and walk away with hardly a scratch." (FACT: Your chance of survival in a crash is five times as great if you stay inside the car.)

"I might be trapped by a belt if my car catches on fire or goes into water." (FACT: Fire occurs in only 0.2 per cent and submersion is only 0.3 per cent of all injury-producing accidents. And even then, your chance of escape is better if a belt keeps you from being knocked unconscious.)

"I don't need to wear a belt just to drive to the supermarket." (FACT: Half of all traffic deaths occur within 25 miles of home.)

"I'm a careful driver — never had an accident. Good drivers don't need seat belts." (FACT: Four out of five drivers in accidents never had an accident before.)

Automobile accidents inevitable? Fatalism? Ridiculous!

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Sad Scene at End of Dodd Hearing

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — There was something a little sad about the wind-up of the Dodd hearings. Senators who peered down at their fellow senator obviously were sad at sitting in judgment on him. It was a disagreeable job.

Dodd himself looked sad. Here was a man who once aspired to be Vice President of the United States asked to explain the transfer of $170,000 from his campaign funds to his personal bank account.

It was a sad scene.

"I needed the money," was the senator's chief excuse.

But was the excuse valid? Did he really need the money? Of course a lot of other people, ranging from Negro boys who snatch purses on the streets of Washington to jobless men with families to feed, have used the same excuse and ended up in jail. But regardless of whether the senator was right or not, did he really need the money?

One answer is that various senators, cabinet members and others manage to live on government salaries. If you dine with Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., you find his wife doing the cooking and the children washing the dishes. Mrs. Orville Freeman, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture, does her own cooking. So does Mrs. Stewart Udall, wife of the Secretary of the Interior. Mrs. Willard Wirtz, wife of the Secretary of Labor, makes her own dresses.

Sen. Dodd complained that he needed a mint of money to campaign. But Connecticut is the third smallest state in the union and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, Republican campaigning in the larger state of Maine, spends $5,000 given her by the Republican National Committee, and that's all.

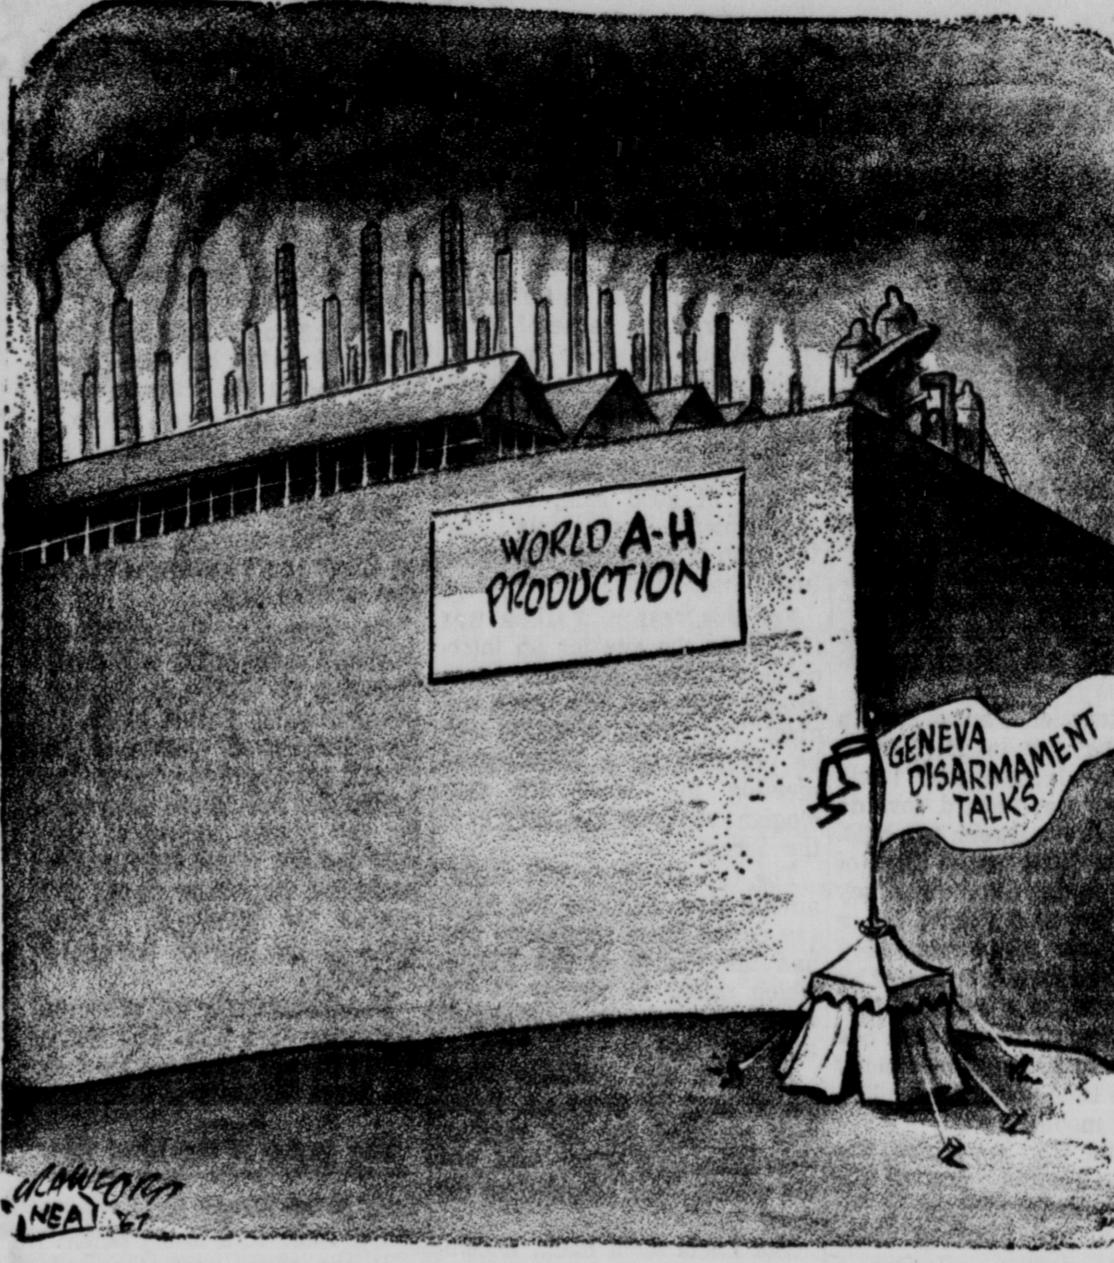

Dodd's Income

Actually Tom Dodd did pretty well financially. During the period of 1957-58, just before he came to the Senate, he collected $74,000 from the Guatemalan government as a foreign agent. This should have given him a nest egg with which to begin his Senate career.

Dodd claims his net worth was only $100,000, from which, he said, must be subtracted current $50,000 legal fees.

However, a check on his visible assets indicates that his net worth is much nearer a quarter of a million. His house in Georgetown is worth around $100,000; his house

Ambiguities In Viet Peace Talk Bids

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you had trouble understanding the correspondence between President Johnson and Ho Chi Minh, maybe they did, too. They went at it like a labor leader and a management man negotiating a contract.

Ambiguity rather than clarity is sometimes considered a virtue in labor-managements talks, at least in the beginning for bargaining purposes. The peace talk letters between Johnson and the president of North Vietnam were ambiguous.

Since Johnson didn't demand a pause in the fighting in South Vietnam — along with a bombing pause and an end to infiltration — what would North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam do if the fighting continued and they had no supplies?

Further, while Johnson said he would send no more U.S. troops to Vietnam if the infiltration stopped, he didn't say he would stop sending supplies. So, was he saying it would be all right to pump supplies into U.S. troops in South Vietnam but not all right for North Vietnam to do the same for its troops?

Ho Chi Minh, in turn, had got no peace signal. He refused to order an indefinite bombing pause for this expressed reason:

It would provide a one-sided advantage for North Vietnam because the bombing was intended to put a crimp in the troop reinforcements North Vietnam was sending into the South and in the supplies it was sending to its troops already there.

Those had been Hanoi's terms. But there's a big difference between a final settlement and peace talks leading to a settlement. And for two years Ho Chi Minh was vague on whether peace talks had to produce Hanoi's settlement.

Thus a bombing pause, unless North Vietnam took some reciprocal action, would let the North Vietnamese send troops and supplies into the South unmolested to kill Americans there. So, to get peace talks started, Johnson wrote Ho Chi Minh a proposal.

He told the North Vietnamese he was ready to stop the bombing and sending more U.S. troops to Vietnam "as soon as I am assured that infiltration into South Vietnam by land and sea has stopped."

This must have left Ho Chi Minh guessing a bit. Johnson didn't say how he would have to be "assured" infiltration into the South had stopped.

The North Vietnamese might interpret that as meaning Johnson would keep the bombing going quite a while after the infiltration had stopped before he felt "assured" it had ended. And what did Johnson mean by infiltration? Did he just mean North Vietnam must stop sending new troops into the South? Or did he mean both new troops and supplies for the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong already there?

Snow, Cold and Easter Are All Wrong For Businessmen

By JOHN CUNNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — It is as if the gods conspired against the merchants.

Snow, cold and a calendar that brought Easter at one of its earliest dates of the century brought lower sales also, for there are no greater opposites than Easter bonnets and city slush.

Retail merchants in some parts of the country, the North especially, will be happy merely to match last year's Easter sales. And these are the same merchants who suffered from nature's impediments last Christmas.

But, if it is difficult to understand the fates it seems even more difficult to understand the common consumer, the once predictable buyer of goods who, during the past year, has become acutely aware that pick-pocket inflation was after his wallet.

Earlier this week at a meeting of a prestigious analysts and forecasters group the talk assumed a very different tone. The discussions, instead of being about the Gross National Product, turned to the consumer instead.

"We're used to discussing capital spending and subjects like it," said one of the economists present there, "but today it was the mystery of the consumer."

The consumer, he said, "is confounding us. We who were brought up in a school that believed you could take the consumer for granted are finding that you can't."

The consumer, he noted, is now putting more money into

"What you have to do is to watch every calorie."

"I don't think calories have a darn thing to do with it. In my opinion it's all mental. What you have to do is think yourself thin — and, son, you will be."

"Have you tried the salt pork and marmalade diet? It worked wonders for me."

"All it takes is a little will power."

"They say some people overeat in an attempt to camouflage a hidden antagonism. It could be a sibling rivalry. Did you hate your brother or sister when you were a boy, Roscoe?"

savings and less into buying. And, partly as a result of this, the nation now has an inventory pileup.

This change in consumer psychology can easily be traced through statistics.

Measure it in retail sales, which declined at an annual rate of 4.5 per cent from September to January, although it had been rising at a 5 per cent rate in the first part of 1966.

A lot of explanations have been given for this dip.

For broad explanations of the slowdown, the mind of the consumer must undergo even more intensive testing. Motivation experts have long attempted to manipulate his brain. That he hasn't responded spontaneously gives reassurance of his intelligence.

The modern consumer is a far more informed individual than just a few years ago. He or she might be more aggressive also. Last year's rebellion against inflation, for instance, was a cause and result of considerable self-education in economic matters.

Constant mention of inflation, recession, taxation, escalation also took their toll, for such words produce an emotional response that shows up clearly in studies of consumer confidence.

This consumer restraint seems now about to thaw, as the entire mood of the nation seems that of a more rested body ready for another bit of economic exercise. First that inventory buildup has to be reduced. And after that the merchants should smile again.

That is, if the common consumer doesn't continue to act in an uncommon way.

On the way home from work a co-worker was telling a woman about what was believed to be a break-in but turned out not to be, and they arrived at her house just as the story was finished.

She got out of the car, walked up the steps of her front porch, dug out her key, for she lives alone, and just as she started to put it in the keyhole the door opened.

It was an uncanny and uneasy feeling to say the least and not only startled her but scared her. Then she saw her cleaning woman standing there smiling at her, for she had seen her coming and opened the door for her.

Will Make Movies For Theaters

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The talk of the film industry this week was the announcement by the Columbia Broadcasting System that it is going into the business of making movies for theaters.

"This makes it a whole new ball game," said a movie bigwig in assessing the significance of the CBS move.

The announcement was made by John A. Schneider, president of the CBS broadcast group.

The import of this development is being discussed in film industry circles.

At least three elements have emerged:

1. CBS is taking firm action to assure supply of feature movies for its network programming. And if CBS does so, NBC and ABC may well follow suit.

The smash success of "The Bridge On The River Kwai" this season proved the value of feature movies in prime time TV. All three networks have become increasingly concerned about the supply of features, which will be expended within three years. At that time the networks will have to start replaying films that have already appeared on TV — or else supply new ones.

2. The major studios will now be faced with direct competition by the television industry.

Until now, the Hollywood companies have thrived by using television to bolster their finances; sales of TV series and old movies have saved the studios from insolvency.

For the first time, the old-line companies are faced with direct competition for theatrical bookings. Is the CBS move at variance with antitrust laws? The film companies may look into this. But CBS will undoubtedly seek to protect itself on that score.

3. Movie theaters will welcome the CBS development.

For the past decade the central theme of theater conventions has been: "We need more product." Exhibitors have claimed that the film producers do not supply enough new features to maintain a healthy industry.

HUGE CROWD—These two pictures give some idea of the number of persons attending the Chamber of Commerce Banquet at Smith-Cotton High School Thursday night. Represented were almost all aspects of business in the city, as well as guests from the surrounding area. Gary Cooper, executive manager of the Chamber of Commerce, estimated the crowd to be over 550 strong. (Democrat-Capital photos)

Red Commanders Reduce Reports Of Own Casualties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Intercepted military messages indicate Communist battlefield commanders are holding back or toning down reports to Hanoi about their Vietnam war casualties, U.S. officials report.

Captured documents discussed by Gen. William C. Westmoreland at this week's Guam conference were said to show the Viet Cong deliberately understate their battle losses while exaggerating American casualties 20 to 40 times.

American figures reflect 60 per cent higher enemy casualties this year compared with 1966.

Officials said this masking of the true situation by Communist fighters in the field may be one reason the North Vietnamese leadership presses the war despite increasing allied power.

These officials, who refused to be publicly named, said that until Hanoi's will is broken by military pressure, the conflict could drag on indefinitely.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have tripled their mortar fire over last year.

Officials said these signs favorable to the allied campaign were pointed up during the Guam discussions:

— Documents showing Communist forces plagued with shortages of food and ammunition, and weakened by disease.

— Enemy defections increasing 100 per cent the first 10 weeks of this year over 1966.

— Interrogation of prisoners revealing friction over tactics and supplies between Viet Cong soldiers and North Vietnamese infiltrators serving in the same units.

— Captured communications indicating the Communists no

Electronic Music

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — Electronic music titled "Mass of Christ the King," by the noted in Navy Undersecretary Maurice Folley's description of French modern composer Pierre Henry, will be heard when Liverpool's new Roman Catholic Cathedral of Christ the King is opened in May. The 20-minute work provides a setting of all the prayers of the Ordinary of the Mass in Latin.

longer entertain thoughts of winning. Officials said instead, they apparently are pressing attacks in hopes of improving their military posture before considering any negotiations.

Officials said the U.S. strategy remains one of applying pressure against enemy ground units in the South to convince the North Vietnamese they can't win, while bombing the North to exact a price from Hanoi for persisting in its aggression.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Restrictions on the use of $175 million in highway funds freed for use by the states have been removed by the Bureau of Public Roads.

The money was part of $1.1 billion for highways frozen last fall by presidential order to take the heat out of the economy.

With indications that the threat of inflation was lessening, the bureau released the $175 million last month but said it could be used only for right-of-way and engineering work tied to later construction. Wednesday these limitations were rescinded.

Release of an additional $350 million for unrestricted use was announced last weekend.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A no-holds-barred fight to organize the farm workers is advocated by the AFL-CIO's chief organizer.

William L. Kircher, director of the AFL-CIO's department of organization called on unions to resort to "strike, boycott, harassment and every kind of economic sanction that you can possibly get by with" to achieve this goal.

In an interview with the Mutual Broadcasting System, Kircher said these tactics were justified because the deck has been stacked against the nation's three million farm workers.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three companies that dominate the market in school class rings in the United States have been indicted by a federal grand jury for alleged rigging of prices.

The indictment, handed down in Washington Wednesday, charges the firms with agreeing to set their prices so that there were immaterial differences so they could be kept artificially high.

Pitchers Need Help

Detroit Tigers Have Just The Team To Beat Orioles

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — If that I can see. Sitting in the stands for a time, scouting the other clubs, taught me a lesson. You see a lot of good looking players in the spring that fade when they start to play for keeps. I'd rather see a little more. I don't see any super felines.

Mayo hired an expert helper to work with the pitchers when he picked up Johnny Sain, who did exceptionally fine jobs with the Yankees and Minnesota Twins. A personality conflict with coach Billy Martin and Manager Sam Mele led to his shift from the Twins to the Tigers.

The Tigers' pitching was supposed to be formidable last year but Joe Sparma failed to live up to his bright promise and Bill Monbouquette, a consistent winner at Boston, could finish only two of 14 starts for Detroit.

Detroit has the hitting with a solid ball club that batted .251, second in the league, and hit more homers (179) than any team in the American League. The trouble was that the enemy hit even more homers (185) off Tiger pitching, including a bumper crop of 42 off young Denny McLain.

"Tiger Stadium and Yankee Stadium are not easy parks for pitchers," said Smith. "The ball goes pretty good to right field or left. You can't make everybody a low ball pitcher. You look at the runs scored (715) and the runs scored against you (698) and you get an idea where the Tigers' big problem was."

Smith is going down the line with a veteran ball club. Except for the outfield, where he is five-deep, it is a thin front line of established players.

"We've got to stay healthy," said Smith. "We can't suffer any serious injuries and stay in the thick of it. I know we have great potential if we can stay in one piece."

"We have no young phenoms

State Indoor Track Meets Set Friday, Saturday In Columbia

Two hundred ninety-one athletes representing 54 Class S schools and 81 Class M schools represented by 561 athletes will compete for honors at the 35th Annual MSHSAA Indoor Track and Field Meet March 24 at Brewer Fieldhouse at the University of Missouri. A total of 672 boys from 73 Class L schools will be competing for honors on Saturday, March 25.

Schools are classified on the basis of the number of students enrolled in grades nine to twelve with those enrollments under 135 in Class S; 185 through 600, Class M; and 601 and above, Class L.

Winners of the first place trophies last year were Columbia University High in Class S, Brentwood in Class M, and St. Louis Beaumont in Class L. These schools will be returning to defend their crowns.

Preliminaries in Classes M and S will begin at 12 noon, March 24, with the finals starting at 6 p.m. Class L preliminaries begin at 10 a.m., March 25, with the finals at 2 p.m. Admission for Class M and S preliminaries will be 50 cents and $1 for the finals. Class L admission will be $1 for preliminaries and finals.

all but two of the last 104 days. Minnesota finally passed them on the final weekend.

"I have to respect Baltimore," said Smith, "but everybody had a good year for them. It remains to be seen whether complacency has set in. I think they are vulnerable."

"Our main job is to stabilize the bullpen. Maybe Hank Aguirre and Monbouquette can help out the others now and then."

On the plus side, the Tigers have a solid outfield with Willie Horton (.262 with 27 homers and 100 RBI) in left, probably Jim Northrup (.265) in center and the veteran Al Kaline (.283 with 29 homers and 88 RBI) in right. Mickey Stanley (.289) is a fine center fielder without power. Gates Brown (.266) swings a heavy bat.

If the infield experiment continues to work out, Norm Cash (.279) will be at first, McAuliffe (.274) at second, Oyler at short and Don Wert (.268) at third. All but Oyler have home run potential.

Bill Freehan, who slumped to .234 last season, is the catcher. He will do most of the work, as usual. The backup jobs are up for grabs.

It is the pitching that causes concern. Mickey Lolich (14-14) is the lone regular lefty starter although the veteran Johnny Podres (4-5) will see spot duty. McLain (20-14) was the big winner and Earl Wilson (18-11) was sensational after he came over from Boston.

Much depends on the ability of Sparma to approach his 13-8 of 1965 after a poor 2-7 season. Dave Wickersham (8-3) will start against certain clubs.

Aguirre (3-9) and Monbouquette (7-8) will try it in the bullpen where Larry Sherry (8-5), Orlando Pena (4-2) and Fred Gladding (5-0) were the workhorses last year.

Smith also has been taking a look at the veteran Johnny Klippstein, cut loose by the Twins. George Korince (9-8 at Montgomery) and John Hiller (3-7 at Syracuse) are the best of the newcomers. Next — Atlanta.

First Place Not Needed For Titles

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Defending champion Southern California was proving you don't have to take first place to win titles in the first round of the finals of the NCAA Swimming Championships Thursday night.

Stanford and UCLA each won two first places in the five final events at the Michigan State pool, and Indiana broke California's domination of the one-meter diving.

But Southern California, shooting for its fifth straight NCAA team title, still held a one-point lead, thanks to great third overtime. We knew we had to score.

We had the ball and somebody, I don't remember who, shot and missed. Somehow I got the ball at the top of the key and started toward the basket.

The best effort by the Trojans was a second by Don Havens in the 50-yard freestyle.

The event was won by Zach Lounsbury in 21.12 seconds. Southern California led after the first night with 83 points. Indiana was second with 82. Stanford third with 75 and UCLA fourth with 61.

The remainder of the team scoring: Michigan 41, Yale 35, Southern Methodist 26, Ohio State 25, Michigan State 21, Minnesota 15, North Carolina 13, North Carolina State and Oregon 12, Southern Illinois 11, Wisconsin 9, Army 4, Duke and Wyoming 3, Maryland, Utah and Villanova 2, and Purdue 1.

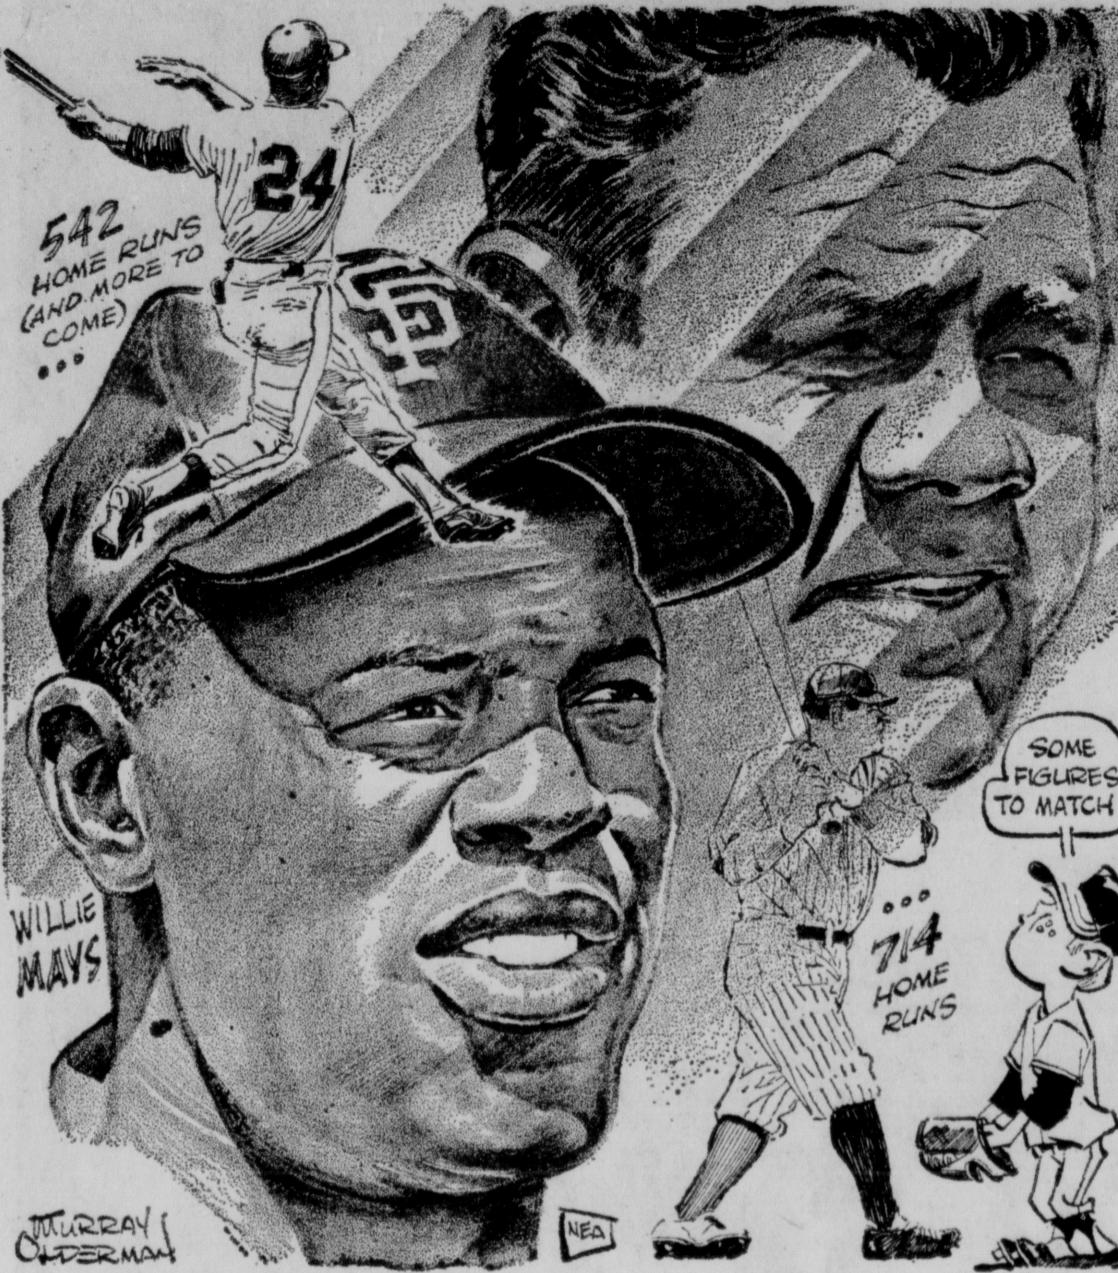

On Kansas' inbounds play, which was supposed to go to Chamberlain, I stuck my hand out and deflected the ball to Tommy Kearns. He threw it straight up and the game ended before the ball came down. We won 54-53 and I don't know when I've been more glad to see a game end than I was that one.

As good as the 1957 team was, I think Carolina this year could have beaten us hands down.

As for their chances at the title, I think they're real good. They have good height, a balanced offense and a good defense.

Outlook For Year

Wild Championship Race In Big Eight

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

A league loaded with top pitchers and a wild five-team championship race involving Missouri, Colorado, Kansas State, Oklahoma State and Oklahoma — that's the outlook for Big Eight baseball, which moves into high gear this weekend.

"The Big Eight will be a pitchers' league this year," said Hi Simmons, starting his 28th year as Missouri coach with a doubleheader at Texas Christian next Monday.

"In general, pitching staffs in the Big Eight will be among the best in the country," said Floyd Temple, starting his 14th year at Kansas next Thursday against Texas Lutheran at San Antonio.

"It will take pitching and for us that means keeping them healthy," said Kansas State coach Bob Brasher, whose Wildcats are off to a 7-game head start. "I feel like before this group of pitchers we have is gone, we will win a Big Eight championship."

K-State split two with Murray State Thursday at Little Rock, 11-5 and 0-3, making its record 4-3.

Almost every club in the Big Eight should be improved over last year, when Oklahoma State won the crown on the last day of the season and went on to finish second in the NCAA College World Series at Omaha.

The Big Eight has had a team in the NCAA finals eight times in the past 16 years and an excellent 63-36 won-lost record in the College World Series.

Colorado swept three games with Oklahoma at the end of last season, knocking OU out of the title. Frank Prentup's 22nd Colorado team, he admits "could be the finest we've had in several years."

Prentup has Taylor Toomey, 6-foot-4 lefthander who was the Big Eight's top pitcher last year in four categories.

Colorado could take it all if any pitching depth develops behind Toomey. Dan Kelly, all-Big Eight shortstop, leads a group of six veterans. Colorado opens with potent Arizona State today in Tempe.

Oklahoma State has veteran pitchers Richard Frank and Larry Burchart, plus Tony Selvare, all-league catcher and 304-hitting Ron McCord. Coach Chet Bryan says, "Attitude to me is everything. The team are so close the team with the best attitude will win it."

Oklahoma, which lost a three-game series at Texas in early March, hopes 6-4 sophomore Ralph Rickey can become the third starter behind veterans Rusty Disbrow and Larry Patterson in a four-game series at Arizona State opening Monday. OU started six rookies at Texas, but they are big ones and Coach Jack Baer hopes his 23rd OU club will hit better than last year.

Missouri returns three seasoned pitchers led by big Mike McFarland, a deep, veteran outfield and a capable infield.

Kansas is leading in the race for the Big Eight all-sports championship with seven sports completed and four to go, but it's so close that defending champion Oklahoma in sixth place still has a good chance.

Kansas has 25½ points under the inverse rating system in which low score wins. Iowa State is second with 28 points, Colorado third with 28½, Nebraska fourth at 30. Kansas State fifth with 31½, Oklahoma State seventh at 32, Missouri last at 40½. First place is worth one point, second two points and so on.

Oklahoma is strong in all four of the remaining sports in the 1966-67 school year — baseball, outdoor track, tennis and golf.

Consistency is the key to the all-sports crown. Kansas has two titles — basketball and indoor track — and finished in the first division in five of the seven sports. Runner-up Iowa State won the gymnastics and swimming crowns, was second in wrestling and second-division in the fast-shooting Warrior, Nate Thurmond.

The absence of Laker guard Jerry West, who suffers from a sprained ankle, may have been a cause of Laker despair but Schaus said, "We can't blame the lack of scoring on West's absence."

"Anyway," he added, "West will probably play Sunday."

Rick Barry led the scoring for the Warriors with 26 points, followed by Thurmond with 22.

The next division playoff game is slated between the Bulls and the Hawks Saturday at St. Louis.

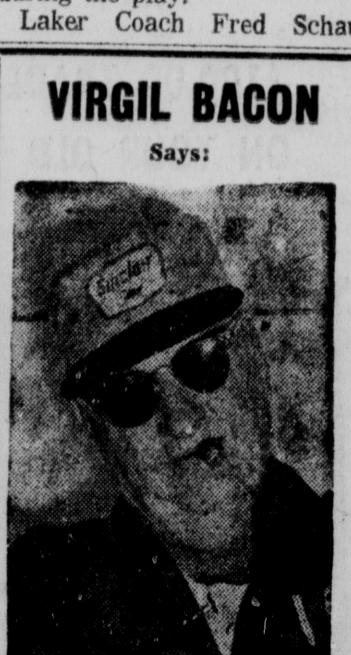

The Lakers meet the Warriors again Sunday morning in San Francisco.

No games were scheduled in the Eastern Division NBA playoffs.

The victory for the Hawks came in the final period as Chicago saw its 82-79 lead dwindle. Lou Hudson made a fast break basket with 6:45 remaining to put St. Louis ahead 98-97. The Bulls never caught up. Hudson jammed in 29 points during the play.

Test Vote Indicates

Johnson's Domestic Plans Faced With Real Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Their ranks swollen by last year's elections, House budget-cutters have indicated in the first test vote this year that President Johnson's domestic programs face real trouble.

They showed considerable muscle Wednesday as the House passed and sent to the Senate the first of a series of appropriations bills financing domestic programs for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The action came on the eve of recess by the House and Senate for a 10-day Easter vacation. The legislators were to meet briefly today — with no major action scheduled — and won't return until April 3.

The appropriations bill carried $7.5 billion for the Treasury and Post Office departments and the executive office of the President. Since it finances the jobs of thousands of mail carriers and other postal employees, it is one of the most difficult to cut.

Yet it reached the House floor trimmed $112 million below the President's request. And, with almost solid Republican backing, the House chopped out another $2.4 million earmarked for more postal field employees and more personnel for the office of the Treasury secretary.

The action came on the eve of recess by the House and Senate for a 10-day Easter vacation. The legislators were to meet briefly today — with no major action scheduled — and won't return until April 3.

The appropriations bill carried $7.5 billion for the Treasury and Post Office departments and the executive office of the President. Since it finances the jobs of thousands of mail carriers and other postal employees,

One of the items is the President's salary and allowances of $150,000.

The over-all cut, proposed by Rep. Charles R. Jones, R-N.C., and supported by most Republicans, would have in essence trimmed spending next year 5 per cent from amounts set out in the President's budget.

Jones estimated the saving at $109 million.

Jones' amendment lost 217 to 168, with 153 Republicans and 15 Democrats supporting it and 198 Democrats and 19 Republicans opposed.

Earlier, in the day, Republican leaders set a goal of $5 billion to $6 billion in spending reductions for next year and singled out such things as rent subsidies, the war on poverty, the Teachers Corps and some phases of the foreign-aid program as potential targets.

In the Senate, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's renewed call for cutbacks in U.S. troops levels in Europe drew support from freshman Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill.

Percy said, "It's time we adjust our position in Europe to the changing facts of life," and cited lessened East-West ten-

Ann Landers Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: You are going to call this shot, Ann Landers, and if you are with "them" and not me, I will crawl back into the cobwebs and never offer another opinion.

Last weekend our daughter brought her roommate home from college. Our daughter always does her laundry when she comes home and her roommate brought laundry, too, which was fine with me. I happened to see the roommate ironing a man's shirt and I asked whose it was. She replied, "My boy friend's. And darn it, I have seven shirts this week!"

At the risk of sounding square I told her I had never heard of a girl doing her boy friend's laundry. Both she and my daughter said it was the "in" thing and that any girl at college who wasn't doing a fellow's laundry was considered a cipher.

Am I crazy when I say this is entirely too chummy?—FOR-TY-SEVEN AND AGING FAST

Dear Aging: If a boy is smart enough to find a girl who is dumb enough to do his laundry, why knock it?

I'll bet a giant-size box of detergent that the laundresses end up with a ring around the wash-tub, and somebody else gets the ring on the finger.

Dear Ann Landers: I was fascinated by the letter from "Life Is a Dung Heap." The woman said anyone who has to write to Ann Landers for help has a screw loose, yet she had joined the throng without even realizing it. I address my remarks to her:

I am the "tramp" (?) who is seeing your husband. I would like to make one point clear, however, he is NOT keeping me. I make $200 a week. And I am not a dumb blonde. I have a master's degree from Columbia University and I'm a brunet.

I did not go after your husband. It was quite the reverse. He finds something in me that sion, a stronger European economy and the U.S. balance of payments deficit.

he did not find in you—principally a keen appreciation for life and the good things it has to offer. Until he met me, he thought life was a dung heap, too.

And now, because I'm a good sport, I'll give you some advice: If you want your husband back, lose some weight, stop complaining, and make your house a heaven to come home to. Spoil him. Fuss over him. He deserves it. In fact, he's the finest man in the world, and don't forget, he is YOUR husband. I wish he were mine.—
BRONXVILLE

Dear Bronxville: Here's your letter, and if that wife is wise she'll take your advice. I couldn't have done better myself.

Dear Ann Landers: I had a little boy out of wedlock seven years ago. I knew it would be difficult to keep him but I couldn't bear to give him up, so I am doing my best.

I have told my family and friends that I was married secretly to an Army officer who was killed overseas. Only my mother knows the truth.

The boy keeps asking for a picture of his Daddy and I wonder if I should show him a picture of my cousin who was killed in the Korean War. It would keep him happy and solve the problem. Your answer will be my decision. — A. G. S.

Dear A. G. S.: Don't add another lie to the one you now have going. It will complicate matters (lies always do), and you'll have to make up six more lies to cover it. Tell the boy you have no picture.

Unsure of yourself on dates? What's right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Unanimous Criticism For Civilian War Casualties

WASHINGTON (AP) — A survey of villagers in one area of Vietnam has disclosed support for U.S. air attacks against Communist positions while registering "unanimous criticism of civilian casualties through air strikes."

This was disclosed in a confidential 198-page report of a public opinion survey made for the U.S. mission in Long An Province, on the fringe of the Mekong Delta about 20 miles south of Saigon.

Vietnamese teams interviewed inhabitants of 19 hamlets last fall to sample their opinions and attitudes on Vietnamese government policies, the war effort, rural development programs and other matters.

The team that visited the Tam Hiep hamlet reported: "The VC often use their snipers to provoke accidental air strafings and then exploited the deaths of innocent people by saying the Americans killed our compatriots to occupy our land."

"These inhuman actions of the VC have often caused pilots to mistakenly drop bombs in the wrong places."

The summary said even those who say they understand reasons for bombing "are vocal in the demand that such air strikes should be undertaken only after careful intelligence and preparation and the South Vietnamese government should find ways of moving civilians to VC-free localities to protect them from such attacks."

One team chief warned that "If the civilians continue to be victims of these air strikes, the people will be subjected to VC propaganda and lose confidence in the South Vietnamese government's policies."

A summary of the survey said that only a few of the roughly 375 Vietnamese interviewed had experienced any air strikes themselves.

Some of those who did suffer losses in air strikes complained of long delays and complicated procedure in collecting reparations.

People in one hamlet, Vam Thu, which had been bombed two or three times, expressed bitterness at what they called "irresponsible" U.S. bombings, the report said.

"It is requested that the air strike be reconsidered so that the 'unjustified' losses of lives and property can be avoided," the team chief said.

The group which questioned peasants in Binh Cu hamlet said: "The population wish to see the government re-examine this problem, and if possible, take people out of target areas to more secure places before launching air strikes."

"The government should not pour bombs on people's heads recklessly and then announce that the most unpopular act ever committed by any government was an accident."

Binh Cu had not been hit by any air strikes up to the time of the survey, the report said.

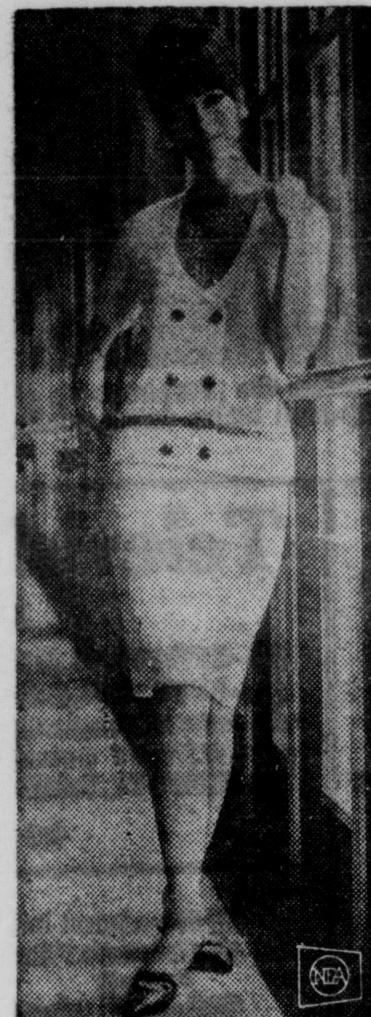

The survey checked on attitudes regarding the U.S. air offensive against North Vietnam. On this, the summary said: "The bombings of North Vietnam targets are very widely known, mainly through radio and newspapers, and most people say they approve of them as being justified and necessary."

"Others, frequently women, disapprove because of the risk of killing civilians."

Killed In Accident

SHELBY, Mo. (AP) — Edwin S. (Jack) Lorentz, operator of a radio and television shop, was killed Thursday when his pickup truck collided with a Burlington train at the Center Street crossing. He was 57.

Influenza Study Is Intensified

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet scientists are setting up an institute in Leningrad that will work on improving methods of preventing and curing influenza, the youth newspaper Komso-molskaya Pravda says.

The newspaper said the institute would attempt to develop vaccines against flu and would cooperate with scientists in the same field throughout the world.

OFFICE MERRY-GO-ROUND keeps patients flowing to Los Angeles, Calif., dentist C. Perry Smith. Dr. Smith has invented a rotating operating room that carries patients to him on a platform that rides an air cushion. Here he is working on one patient, while the head of another is barely visible at far right, ready to be whisked to the dentist with a push of a button. The system avoids the congestion and collisions that occur when the dentist must have various patients scattered in different rooms in his office.

By Ned Lindstrom

Most TV owners have but a slight acquaintance with an integral part of their set: the picture tube. Other than the fact that it is a pretty expensive item, the average person little appreciates what a great piece of electronic engineering it represents.

A picture tube actually is little more than a conical glass bulb with a phosphor screen on the inside of the bulb's face. In the neck of the tube is the electron "Gun" which directs an electron beam at the screen to activate it and thereby produce the transmitted image.

The metal components of the electron gun, among them magnets no larger than a pencil eraser, and tungsten wire finer than the hair on your head, require constant fine-precision inspection during assembly. It is the constant attention to detail that makes the manufacture of picture tubes a delicate, exacting and rather costly undertaking. However, it is this carefully controlled method of manufacture which pays off to the buyer in terms of sharp, clear viewing and longer life for the tube.

For the sharpest, clearest constant viewing that will build your pride and satisfaction . . . and the technical knowledge to keep it that way, you can put your entire confidence in THE RADIO SHOP, 112 South Ohio, Phone TA 6-6370.

NOEL CANNON
JUDGE

BENEATH THESE SOMBER COURT ROBES (left) beats the heart of a glamor girl. Traffic Judge Noel Cannon of the Municipal Court of Los Angeles wears black lace and ostrich feathers (right) for a recent appearance on CBS-TV To Tell the Truth. And the glad rags aren't just for the show. The judge, when off duty, is a very fashion-conscious lady.

Detour Safety Rules

Include Driver Re-Exam And Eye Testing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Traffic Safety Agency has been asked to detour parts of its new highway safety standards and to bypass others.

But a check Thursday of comments received by the agency indicated an inconsistent mixture of responses from private groups and the few states which have responded officially to the 13 proposed standards published last month.

The standards include inspection of motor vehicles at least once a year, re-examination of licensed drivers plus an eye test at least once every four years, and crash helmets for motorcyclists.

They are companions to the auto safety standards issued by the agency.

But unlike with the auto standards, $269 million in federal aid will be made available over three years to help the states set up a highway safety program based on the standards which the agency ultimately will issue.

The 13 draft standards published on Feb. 16 are for review and comment and there is no commitment to adopt them in their present form, the agency said.

States must be implementing a safety program approved by the Transportation Department by Jan. 1, 1969, or face possible loss of 10 per cent of their federal road construction money.

Comments received thus far range from "reasonable and constructive" to "impossible to put into effect by the deadline."

The Automotive Safety Foundation said the standards are "well within the minimum reach of state and local jurisdictions." But Alabama disagreed vehemently.

C. W. Russell, Alabama's director of public safety, said most states won't be able to put the standards into effect by the deadline. Some, he said, will "require extensive, extended and long-range propaganda to make them acceptable."

Illinois' Department of Public Works and Buildings said it would cost about $25 million to set up the suggested program with annual operating costs of $53 million excluding design and construction of highways.

Assessment For County Nearly Done

Pettis County Assessor Jerry Trotter Thursday urged Pettis County residents to contact his office if they have not received or filled out their 1967 tax assessment forms.

Trotter pointed out that unless assessments are made and taxes paid, owners of automobiles will not be able to purchase license plates since they will not have their tax receipts.

He added that deputies of the assessor's office have completed work in all but two townships in the county, Hughesville and Flat Creek, work in Sedalia is complete.

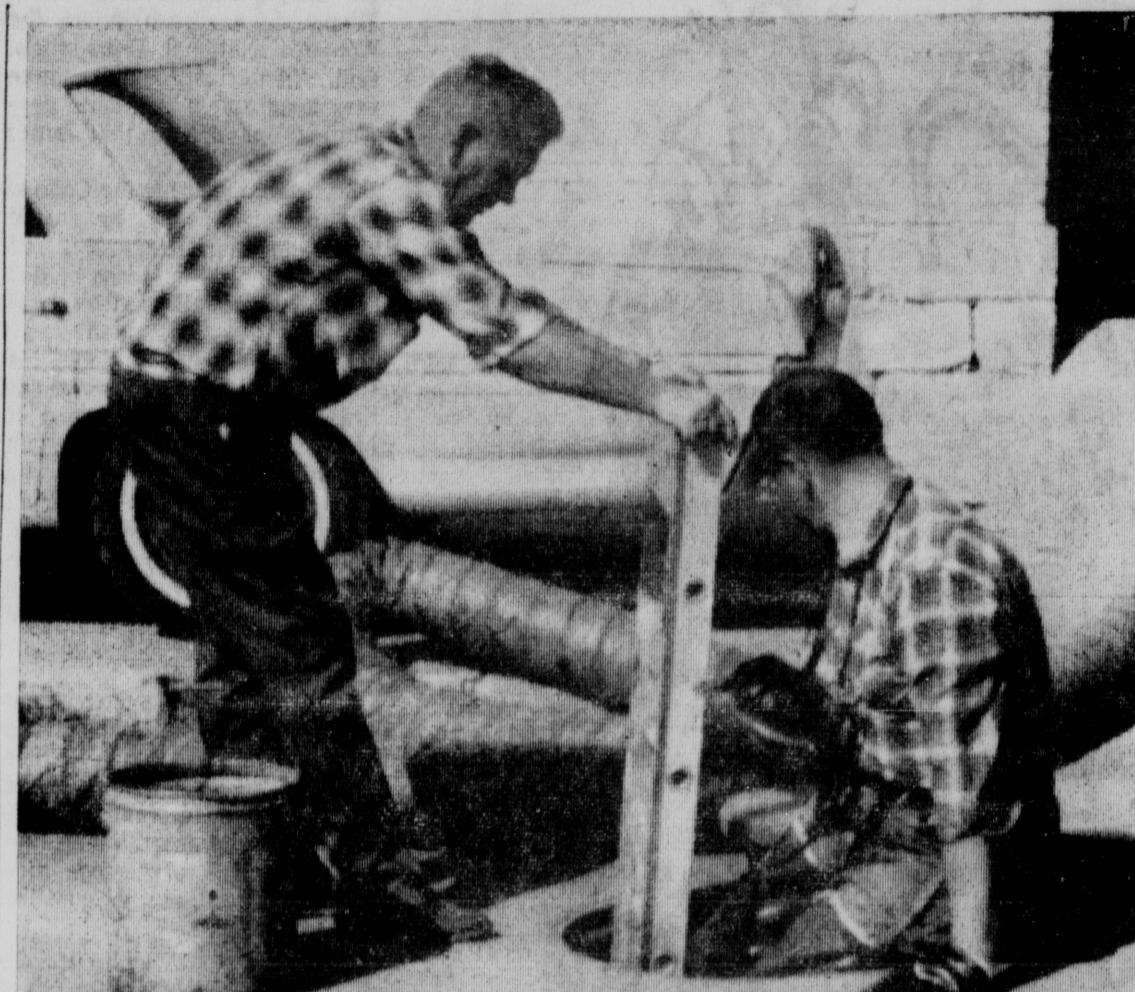

Trotter said there are always cases, however, where persons were missed either because they were not home or are living in apartments and residences unknown to the assessors.

He stressed that the necessity for tax receipts for the purchase of automobile license plates will be enforced more rigidly in the future.

Although all the assessments have been made in Sedalia, Trotter said his office had no total evaluation figure ready at this time. He said he felt that personal property evaluation for the city might be lower this year, however.

Construction Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $3,280 federal water pollution control administration grant to Burlington Junction, Mo., to aid in construction of a $30,600 sewerage system improvement project was announced Thursday by Missouri members of Congress.

TIME FOR CHECK—A second Burns & McDonnell engineer prepares to enter Sedalia's old brick constructed storm sewer Wednesday to check on its condition. Merrill Hunt, also of Burns and McDonnell, had already entered

Forbodes Crop Of Trouble

Milk Dumping Is Seen As Unrest Sign Among Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats and Republicans see milk dumping and violence as signaling an unrest among farmers that forebodes a crop of trouble for the administration in 1968.

The drive by the National Farmers Organization in 25 states to push up milk prices is regarded by many farmers and their leaders and representatives in Congress as headline demonstration of deep dissatisfaction over declining farm prices and rising costs.

"Sure it means trouble for Johnson in 1968," said Chairman W. R. Poage of the House Agriculture Committee, a Democrat from President Johnson's home state of Texas.

"Any Democrat who runs in trouble in the farm areas in 1968 with the farmers feeling the way they do," he added. "But I don't know that the Republicans can do much talking."

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman — the man in the middle between disgruntled farmers and administration anti-inflation efforts — insists the situation will improve and that farmers won't turn their back on Democrats.

But at an Ithaca, N.Y., news conference Thursday he deplored low farm prices and cautioned that the "production

Sanctity of the Stomach

Under Missouri law any person under the age of 21 years who purchases, or attempts to purchase, or has in his possession, any intoxicating liquor is guilty of a misdemeanor.

This restraint hasn't registered universally among teen agers. Some of them believe that the law only applies to whisky and not to beer. Ordinarily one does not refer to beer as a liquor. This probably accounts for the misunderstanding.

Whisky is a distilled alcoholic liquor; so is gin and vodka. Then what about beer? Beer is a liquor, too; fermented but undistilled, brewed from malt. The law refers to "any intoxicating liquor," which includes not only those mentioned above but other beverages potent enough to create a buzz.

So application of the words "intoxicating liquor" is a broad one applying to minors who purchase or even attempt to purchase it, or have it in possession.

A significant point of law came up recently in connection with the word "possession" of liquor. Attorney General Norman H. Anderson issued to the Prosecuting Attorney of Clinton county a ruling that liquor consumed by a minor does not come within the meaning of the word "possession" under Missouri law; that no Missouri Supreme Court case was found interpreting this section, although there are cases defining "possession" as used in liquor laws during the era of prohibition.

One case established that because a person was intoxicated did not mean he was in possession of intoxicants, although he may have drained the bottle and threw it away before the police caught up with him.

In another state, a court decided that "liquor in one's stomach does not constitute possession within the meaning of the law . . ."

There are some peculiar twists to interpretation of our laws by high courts these modern times, but in the main they are for protection of citizens' privileges.

Since it has been determined that liquor in a person's stomach does not mean he has possession of it, what about the law's application in other instances?

As an example consider the man who stole a diamond ring and was apprehended by the police. Before they laid hands on him he swallowed the ring. Then he could not be arrested for possession of stolen property, or could he? That's a point about which someone else will have to ask the attorney general.

Insofar as concerns the juveniles who drink the booze and throw the container away, they may not in their stomach have possession of the liquor; but one thing is certain, the liquor has possession of them.

LBJ Plans Pan-American Conference

DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Now that a final decision has been made on the Pan American Summit Conference, President Johnson is putting a lot of care into its preparation.

Only a few diplomats know it, but the conference was almost sidetracked. When the rumor got circulated in Latin America that it was LBJ who chiefly wanted the conference "for political reasons," Johnson instructed Secretary of State Rusk to give Latin American countries a chance to postpone the meeting.

Accordingly, at the recent Buenos Aires meeting of Foreign Ministers, Rusk gave the Foreign Ministers several openings to postpone or even drop the whole thing. There were no takers.

Now that the conference is definitely set for April 12-14, LBJ is going all out to make it a success. He has invited all Pan American Ambassadors in Washington, plus all the OAS Ambassadors, plus the Latin American Ambassador to the U.N., to come to his ranch April 1 and 2 for a Texas barbecue by Walter Jetton, the famous Texas barbecue expert.

LBJ is turning the hangar on the ranch into a reception room, and will later take the 50 diplomats with their wives to San Antonio, one of the most important Spanish-American cities in the southwest. There they will stay all night and inspect the San Antonio river which once flowed through the city dump, but which the late Mayor Maury Maverick, with the help of a young Congressman from Texas, Lyndon Johnson, turned into a beautiful park where San Antonians boat on Sunday.

Car Symbol and Goal in East Germany

KARL MARX SADT, East Germany (AP) — In East Germany the automobile is a symbol for the party and a goal for the people.

The ability to deliver a good, cheap car would symbolize Communist success in their centrally run economy. For the people, possession of a car is something tangible to show for hard work since World War II.

Against this background, the appearance of an American car of the low-priced field becomes a focal point in this area.

Whenever an American correspondent stops in East Germany his car provokes conversations with workers, passersby and officials.

Two questions are always asked:

"How fast does it go?"
"How much does it cost?"

And usually these are added:

Maundy Thursday

No longer the custom of washing the feet
For different the life is today,
And even then in that moment so fleet
He was merely showing the way;
'Twas a symbol of humbleness He tried to explain
In His greatness this task did He do,
When the Master stopped with a towel and a pan.
For it would not be long now He knew;
He asked not that they gather in places and pray
Or even about Him should weep,
He was only saying as a shepherd would say.
That they should take care of His sheep;
For He loved the poor and the destitute.
And He loved the sick and the old,
Even the sinner and prostitute
Did Jesus take in His fold;
And so on that Thursday He told them how
He wanted His work carried on
And asked if they would be willing now
To help others when He was gone;
The washing of feet was a symbol of course,
As they sat 'round the table there,
He felt the men He had picked were a source
Through which would continue His care;
When comes Maundy Thursday let's all look about
The last of this Lenten season.
And let, in our hearts, there be no doubt
But really be sure of the reason;
What of His disciples did He expect
What would He have us do?
To treat everyone with love and respect
And not just perhaps a select few;
To comfort, to lift, to clothe and to feed.
To forget our own selfish pride
Maundy Thursday awakens us to the need
For this did He give as their guide;
As the dark clouds gathered around Him that night
And no matter what ritual we may recite.
Without the true meaning life's hollow;
The thing Christ stressed that night to His men
Was to treat everyone as a brother,
And let us review His message again
What He said was to do for each other.

BERRY'S WORLD

... And so—the story BEHIND the story on recent events in Red China is that NOBODY knows what the story is!

C.I.A. Functions

By CYRENE DEAR
WASHINGTON, D. C. — Senator Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.), in a speech before the Women's National Press Club, said, "Americans don't make very good spies, and some government opinions are that James Bond is dead."

Seriously discussing the Central Intelligence Agency, he raised three questions regarding its organization: What does it do? Does it do it well? and by what authority does it function?

Regarding what it does, the C.I.A. has been active in the field of foreign policy, and it has performed some acts with executive approval regarding Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Guatemala and South Vietnam. The C.I.A. has now acknowledged that it provided funds to students groups, and it has been charged with funding labor organizations and even the press. One of the Agency's purposes is to fight communism, and it has various ways of doing it. The Senator quoted Britain's Lord Cromwell who defended his actions: "If you are satisfied that the objectives are good, then there is no reason to question the methods."

Is the C.I.A. doing its job well? The Senator said, "In a free society one makes mistakes on the side of trust, but we must be careful not to sacrifice our goals. Secret Service applies to a special kind of sacrifice and Americans do not like to stay underground for long."

The Senator felt that some of the organizations aided by the C.I.A. could have done their work just as well or even better if it had been done openly. He said that the Peace Corps has been affected by the student organization, but the publicity created will not cause the Peace Corps any permanent damage. The National Student Association fought communism in this country without help from the C.I.A., and it could have done so on an international front. The Senator does not believe the C.I.A. will become a political football, but he says the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate should have a clear division of the agency's functions, and only those functions which endanger the security of the United States should be secret.

The Republic of Somalia maintains that most of the 115,000 inhabitants of French Somaliland belong to the Somali racial group and that the territory should unite with its independent neighbor.

Both Ethiopia and Somalia have been engaged in a bitter border dispute for years, often resulting in armed clashes.

Few of Somaliland's aspiring politicians believe they could form a black independent government. They know that if the French pull out and sever all aid, greater unemployment and hunger are likely.

Of Somaliland's population of 115,000, some 85,000 are considered French nationals. The other 30,000 are classified as foreigners. These are mainly Somalis from the neighboring republic who live in border areas. Thousands have been deported to Somalia.

The French government has warned that France will move out if the Somalis vote for independence. All technical, financial and military aid will be cut off.

The opening bid of four is even more pre-emptive than the bid of three. It also should be a substantially better hand. This is because, somehow or other, three-level preempts are seldom

In Rostock, a group of construction workers, including their foreman, stood around the American car and measured it with a carpenter's rule.

When the visitor came out of a harbor warehouse, accompanied by a local Communist functionary, the worker asked to see the engine, interior and trunk. The functionary said there was no time.

Replied the foreman: "Come on, Willi. Let him show us. How often do we get the chance to see something like this here?"

Cars made in East Germany are the Trabant, with three models, and the bigger Wartburg, with five. The Trabant starts at 7,800 marks and the Wartburg is 15,000-17,000.

The dollar value is difficult to compute. The East German tourist rate is 4.2 marks to the dollar. West Berlin banks quote a rate of 11.8 east marks to the dollar.

Automobile prices are manipulated in order to keep demand in line with supply, which is limited by a shortage of materials.

The average wage in East Germany is about 550 marks a month. Tax in the price of a Wartburg may run as high as 10,000 marks.

About 660,000 cars were licensed in East Germany at the end of 1965, with well over two million motor bikes and scooters of various types. The population is 17 million.

This sensitivity is heightened by the appearance not only of an occasional American car but of West German cars in far greater numbers. This makes for an all-German postwar comparison and the Communist output, despite allowances for the disadvantages resulting from division, suffers from the comparison.

The first hand is likely to make four spades if partner can give us one trick. The latter won't make four spades unless partner can give us three.

We have another rule for four-level preempts. We never have more than one ace and if our partner has passed, we do not ever have solid trumps and a void suit.

French May

Lose Last Territory

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland (AP) — If posters win an election, the French are on their way out of their last colonial territory in Africa.

The issue will be decided Sunday in a referendum. The people will vote yes or no on two issues:

Whether to take limited independence under French control, or take the road to absolute independence.

In this sweltering capital there is hardly a road, house or tree that does not bear the word "non."

African taxi drivers greet each other with the cry, "Non, non, non" as they drive along the dusty streets. In the market a goat has "non" whitewashed on its flank.

Mosque walls bear the words "non" and "go home Frenchman."

French Somaliland has been French for a century. It is an impoverished 9,000-square-mile territory at the southern end of the Red Sea. Its only asset is the port of Djibouti.

Both its neighbors, Ethiopia and Somalia, lay claim to French Somaliland. Forty percent of Ethiopia's exports are sent by rail from Addis Ababa to Djibouti. Nearly all of Ethiopia's oil shipments must come through this port. Ethiopia is worried that this link may be threatened.

The Republic of Somalia maintains that most of the 115,000 inhabitants of French Somaliland belong to the Somali racial group and that the territory should unite with its independent neighbor.

Both Ethiopia and Somalia have been engaged in a bitter border dispute for years, often resulting in armed clashes.

Few of Somaliland's aspiring politicians believe they could form a black independent government.

Thousands have been deported to Somalia.

The French government has warned that France will move out if the Somalis vote for independence. All technical, financial and military aid will be cut off.

Itself and that has some compensating values.

In first or second seat we would open four spades irrespective of vulnerability with: Spades — A K Q 10 8 7 6, H — 2, D — Q 10 2, C — 2. We would not open four spades with: Spades — A K A J 10 9 8, H — 3 2, D — 7 6, C — 8 4.

The first hand is likely to make four spades if partner can give us one trick. The latter won't make four spades unless partner can give us three.

We have another rule for four-level preempts. We never have more than one ace and if our partner has passed, we do not ever have solid trumps and a void suit.

Today's hand shows the advantage of this hard and four-level preempts. South had a normal four-spade opening. North looked over his big hand and decided that South might well hold two aces. Therefore, North bid four diamonds to show one ace, North signed off at five spades but they were one trick too high.

West opened the ace of diamonds and shifted to the queen of hearts. East took two heart tricks and game and rubber had been thrown out the window.

Thus when we open with a four bid we don't have 10 tricks in our own hand but we do have a hand that is almost surely going to make eight tricks by double while four level preempts frequently are.

'It's More Blessed to Unite'

Down through the years the Sedalia-Pettis County United Fund has had rough sledding trying to reach an annually determined goal, like the one last fall of $88,000.00.

Considerable energy was expended by volunteers trying to meet the challenge. The result was close, something around $78,000.00 which was creditable but required the participating agencies to do some sail-trimming on operational expenditures.

Every year we hear talk of abandoning the United Fund method of raising money for charitable organizations. A defeatist attitude develops among those who have to do the planning and leg work to obtain pledges when they encounter rebuffs and disinterest among those people who pinch their wallets too tightly.

So far the UF way survives here making it unnecessary for participating organizations to conduct individual drives.

In this connection there are some interesting comments in the Hannibal newspaper complaining about the people of Marion county growing weary of daily requests to give, give, give.

Hannibal does not have a United Fund and the newspaper pleads that the community should have one "where all organizations will get their fair cut on a one-time concerted drive for funds instead of the nit-picking, nickel and dime affairs we have now."

Hannibal without the United Fund finds organizations pounding doors and ringing bells and appealing to the good nature of the citizenry to give to this and to give to that—a most repetitious and inefficient method, and the developer of public resentment.

So we have the opinion of Hannibal people who are tired of the waste of time and talent raising funds to support worthwhile charitable and character building organizations by means of a dozen drives a year rather than by the United Fund way.

Before we abandon the Sedalia-Pettis County United Fund we may well consider the plight of other communities like Hannibal which do not have it, and are pretty sick and tired of daily requests to give, give, give.

As the Hannibal papers suggests: "It Is More Blessed to Unite."

Ultimate Big Thinking

One of the mottos by which go-go America tries to live is "THINK BIG!"

No one does this better than the U. S. Department of Defense.

By thinking big, Defense has managed to outgrow the Pentagon, which is merely the biggest office building in all this big, big world.

By thinking big, Defense is now spawning four new "little Pentagons" — not so little, however, that together they won't be as big as the Pentagon.

Mississippi officials argue that the poor now have a wider choice of food and that local merchants benefit. But a hungry child cannot eat that argument for dinner.

THE BOSTON GLOBE: Hunger a Weapon. — A loophole in the law under which federal food surpluses are distributed to the poor has cut off thousands of Mississippi Negroes from a food source which was their only means of subsistence.

The food formerly was distributed through welfare agencies. It now must be purchased with food stamps in local markets. The Negroes can buy $76 worth of food for stamps costing them $12, but most of them do not have even the $12 and hence must either starve or migrate.

Mississippi officials argue that the poor now have a wider choice of food and that local merchants benefit. But a hungry child cannot eat that argument for dinner.

The Mississippi experience, coming on the heels of a similar situation in Alabama, where welfare payments are used as a bludgeon to whip "uppity" Negroes back into line, suggests how easily sound programs can be perverted by venal local administrators.

Criminal penalties should be provided for converting federal food and funds into a vehicle for the effective erosion of Civil Rights laws.

would be for the Defense Department, with the thoughtful help of all the rest of us here and around the world, to big-think our way to one little word — PEACE.

California Political Boycott of Bobby

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — A secret meeting of California Democratic congressmen has set up a political boycott of Bobby Kennedy. They decided Bobby would not be invited to address fund-raising dinners in California — at least for the time being.

Behind the snub was indignation over Bobby's recent speeches on peace in Vietnam, which many California Democrats felt were a challenge to President Johnson's leadership and were splitting the Democratic party wide open.

Rep. George Miller of Oakland was especially indignant; also Charles Wilson of Los Angeles and Chet Holifield of Montebello.

Rep. Ed Roybal of Los Angeles had suggested that Bobby be invited to an upcoming fund-raising Democratic dinner. "He would be a good drawing card," he said.

This started the sparks flying. "I certainly do not like the position he's taken against the President on Vietnam," declared Miller. "And I doubt he would be much of a drawing card right now. The chances are he wouldn't."

"I don't think he should be invited at all," snapped Wilson. "It would do great damage to the administration."

Roybal, George Brown of Monterey Park and Don Edwards of San Jose pointed to Bobby's contribution to the last campaign, but they were overruled.

So it looks as if Bobby would save himself some time and carfare traveling to the West Coast during the next few months.

Adam's Seat

Sentiment on Capitol Hill is veering away from any showdown with the courts over Adam Clayton Powell. Congressmen talk big publicly about thumbing their nose at the courts, but privately they sing low. They don't want to put themselves in the same position of flouting the federal courts that Adam Powell is in with the New York courts.

Furthermore, most congressmen realize they made a serious error when they did not seat Powell first and kick him out later. The constitution is quite clear that they had no right to exclude him from taking a seat

"All You Need Is a Little Imagination!"

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 90th Congress, departing today for its Easter recess and due back April 3, could stay away longer without being missed. It didn't do much, although that's part of the course at this time of year.

Even when it returns it won't come close to matching the fabulous record of the 89th Congress of 1965-66. This is a much more negative, carping kind of Congress, more bent on cutting costs than launching big, new programs.

But there's another basic reason why this Congress doesn't have much spark. In 1965, the year in which he began to intensify the war in Vietnam, Johnson could still concentrate on twisting the arm of House and Senate.

He got what he wanted. But now he is up to his neck in the war, just as he was in 1966, but more so, taking a clubbing from his critics, defending himself, and, as recent events revealed, trying to get North Vietnam to talk peace.

This doesn't give him — and it wouldn't give any president — the time he needs to do missionary work for his domestic programs in Congress. Since he can't spend as much time on this as he otherwise could, it does much to explain why he hasn't been in any brawls with Congress.

Nevertheless, the voters weren't satisfied with the 89th's performance and in the 1966 elections gave the Republicans 48 Democratic seats in the House and three in the Senate.

After its first year, even the 89th calmed down. In their 1966 session the House and Senate acted as if they had done enough and given the executive branch enough new programs to handle for years.

That mood seems to prevail in this Congress although the energetic Johnson has dumped a wagon-load of proposals on it.

So far it has done little except to make headlines with the financial dealings of two of its members: Adam Clayton Powell and Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., gray, gaunt GOP leader, had to join AFTRA — The American Federation of Television and Radio Artists — before he could cut his oratorical disc. Ev is now a full-fledged member of the union.

Two Senators From Connecticut

Sen. Abe Ribicoff, D-Conn., who ran the Senate hearings on auto safety, castigated General Motors for hiring a private eye to investigate Ralph Nader, a Senate witness. Ribicoff was so outraged that he hauled GM officials before his committee and gave them a tongue-lashing.

Yet what was wrong for General Motors was all right for the other senator from Connecticut. Tom Dodd hired detective James Lynch to shadow and harass witnesses before the Senate Ethics Committee.

Lynch gave the impression he was a government investigator and badgered witnesses who refused to cooperate with him. He secured an affidavit from one witness by threatening to question her at the jail house. He boasted to another witness that he had managed to sneak into Jack Anderson's office, also rummaged through his garbage.

Lynch even attended the first Dodd hearings and slipped notes to Dodd's attorneys. Ethics Committee senators, unlike Ribicoff, kept silent.

How To Help Child Cope With 'New Math'

By SUSAN LIGHT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LIGHT: My seven-year-old son is having trouble with arithmetic. He's in some sort of "new math" program — I'm not sure what. Is there any way I can help him at home? — AVERAGE MOTHER

ANSWER: First talk with his teacher and try to pinpoint his difficulties. Some children are whizzes in computation but dim bulbs in reasoning, and vice versa. A few grasp some mathematics concepts but not others.

If the trouble is general, I suggest an all-out attack. Get a box of toothpicks and two packs of small flashcards, one with addition facts and the other subtraction, and you'll be in business. Total cost, about 70 cents. Use the toothpicks for "discovery," the cards for rote learning.

In a typical flashcard game, the child keeps any card he answers correctly. Problems answered incorrectly are reviewed after each round. Object is to increase number of correct answers on each round, aiming for a perfect score. You can make any number of variations on the basic "game" and give tokens such as candy for prizes.

The toothpicks have multiple uses, such as clarifying the commutative and associative principles, regrouping, and solving algebraic equations. (Sounds complicated, but it isn't. Just professional jargon.)

For example, to get across the idea that if 3 plus 5 equals 8, then 5 plus 3 equals 8, let your child manipulate 8 toothpicks, putting 3 in one pile (or "set") and 5 in another, and vice versa. He'll "discover" that the total number of toothpicks remains the same.

To understand ones, tens and hundreds and their relationship to each other, he might count to 150 toothpicks by ones. He could then put them in piles of 10, whereupon he would find there are 15 tens in 150. Ten tens could then be put in a pile to make 100, and he would "discover" there were 5 tens left over. He would eventually conclude that 150 means 150 ones or 15 tens or 1 hundred, 5 tens, and 0 ones.

In a typical flashcard game, the child keeps any card he answers correctly. Problems answered incorrectly are reviewed after each round. Object is to increase number of correct answers on each round, aiming for a perfect score. You can make any number of variations on the

Pension Systems Coming In For Congressional Studies

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — As was bound to happen eventually to any bundle of money weighing $90 billion, the nation's private pension systems are coming under increasing scrutiny from Congress.

As a result, everyone from unions to the National Association of Manufacturers is betting that these funds, now largely unregulated, will come under more and more federal control.

The consensus ends abruptly, however. Some critics feel regulation is needed to prevent abuses that almost certainly coexist with such sizable funds. Others view control as more and more federal control.

Congress' interest, as represented in bills introduced into both houses, is in setting minimum standards for the operation of these funds and with establishing governmental control so that the standards are enforced.

This pressure on Congress comes from various sources, including President Johnson, who feel these pension systems have grown to such an enormous size that the interests of workers must be protected.

As of now, the reserve funds of these private systems — trusted by unions, corporations, life insurance companies, banks — total four times those of the Social Security system, which has reserves of $22 billion.

The pensions total is growing swiftly, having swelled from almost nothing in the early 1940s and having nearly tripled in the past 10 years or so. By 1970 it certainly will exceed $100 billion.

These private funds already receive incomes from their investments of $8 billion a year and pay out more than $3 billion to some three million beneficiaries.

However, these figures raise as much suspicion as praise. Too little is known of their significance because of a near absence of regulation, the stiffest federal requirement being the filing of an annual report.

This in effect makes the funds the greatest unregulated financial institution in the nation.

Local Independent Retail Grocers Meet

A membership meeting of the Sedalia Independent Retail Grocers Association will be held Tuesday night, March 28, at Flat Creek Inn.

A smorgasbord dinner will be served at 7 p.m. with the host firm being the American Bakers Co.

William Dick, president of the Grocers Association, will preside.

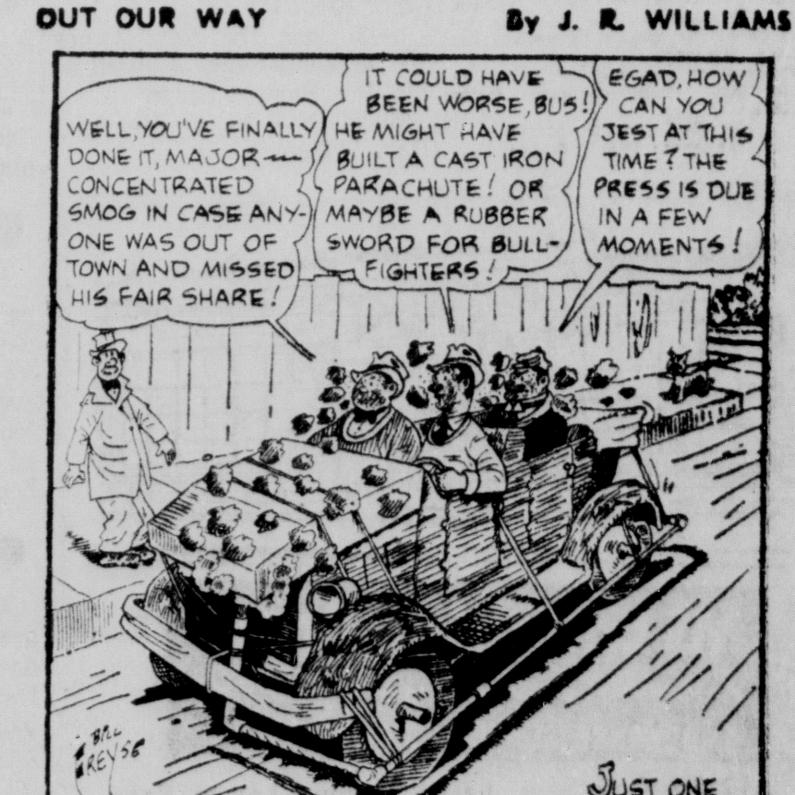

Speakers on the program will be William Miller, chief of police, who will talk on the Crime Alert program, and Gary Cooper, secretary of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

Ronnie J. Yates will commentate a colored picture program covering his study and vacation in Austria last summer under the auspices of the Foreign Language League.

All retail food dealers and their wives may attend.

Wheat Futures Stage Recovery In Trading

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures recovered from the devastating decline and advanced up to a cent a bushel Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade, but other grain futures were mostly mixed.

Wheat, which fell nearly 9 cents a bushel Wednesday, opened up to 2½ cents a bushel higher then declined under some profit taking. Thereafter prices moved over a narrow range, mostly under Wednesday's close, until near the end of the session.

The board is closed Good Friday.

At the close, wheat was ½ to 1 cent a bushel higher. May $1.73½¢; corn was unchanged to ½ lower. May $1.41-40¢; oats were ½ lower to ½ higher, May 73½ cents; rye was ½ lower to ½ higher, May $1.23¢; and soybeans were unchanged to ¼ higher, May $2.86½¢.
